

Goal • Increase your ability to find and use scientific information and refer to sources.

What to Do

- Use the outline below to help you record specific information from one source.

Outline

1. What topic are you researching?

2. List the key words for this search.

3. Record the bibliographic data for the source you are using.

4. On the back of this sheet, record information from this source. Include page number references or web page addresses for each piece of information.

5. List five main points you have picked up from this source.

6. List any important visuals or diagrams. Include page numbers and information. If the visual is very important to your research, make a copy on a separate sheet of paper.

7. Briefly summarize the information gathered from this source.
