

CATEGORICAL SYLLOGISMS

1. All left-handed people are smart.
Some left-handed people play ping-pong.
Therefore: Some ping-pong players are smart.
2. All students belong to a club.
Henry belongs to a club.
Therefore: Henry is a student.
3. Some students who are good at math are also good at philosophy.
Some students who are good at philosophy are also good at knitting.
Therefore: Some students who are good at math are also good at knitting.
4. All piano players play violin.
All piano players brush their teeth.
Therefore: Some violinists brush their teeth.
5. All who read literature are good at empathizing with others.
All who are good at empathizing with others are moralistically inclined.
Therefore: All who read literature are moralistically inclined.
6. All crows are black.
Some crows are feisty animals.
Therefore: Some feisty animals are also black.

