

4* plants reproduce

2* plants reproduce

In every generation, only some of the plants in this population reproduce. When the light pink and heterozygous roses in the second generation did not reproduce, the allele for light pink petals was quickly lost from the gene pool.