

CHAPTER 3*OVERHEAD*Terrestrial Biomes According to Temperature and Precipitation*BLM 3.3.1

Terrestrial Biomes According to Temperature and Precipitation

Terrestrial biomes have been plotted according to mean annual temperature and precipitation. The pattern of precipitation influences the types of soil that form in the different biomes. The precipitation and soil, along with topography, altitude, latitude, and temperature, determine the types and abundance of organisms that can survive in the biome.